

Welcome Everyone...I'm Glad You're Here.

Let me introduce myself. My name is Tred Barta and facts talk with a loud, clear voice. Our society has become so liberal today, that our beliefs and what we stand for, I guess, should not be stated publicly; after all, we might offend someone. I say, horsepucky! I believe in reciting, in all public places and in school, the Pledge of Allegiance to the United States of America. I salute the American Flag and believe our flag should be flown in all of its glory at all government and public places. Our currency says, "In God We Trust". I emphatically believe in prayer in public schools. I live my life in accordance to the Ten Commandments and have absolutely no problem with them displayed in public places. I judge no person by their creed, color or religion but judge all people by their moral code of honor. I believe strongly in the right to bear arms and Second Amendment rights.

My name is Tred Barta. I believe in the sanctity of marriage and believe that the family unit is the backbone of this country.

Is there possibly anyone who does not know where I stand and how I live my life? If I have possibly offended anyone, too bad.

Many of you know me from my TV show on Versus, "The Best and Worst of Tred Barta". Or perhaps my 30 year non-stop writing career or my back page in sport fishing magazine titled, "For the Record". Or maybe you know me from my charity tournaments, the Barta Boys and Girls Club Billfish Tournament, Beaufort, North Carolina or the Barta Boys and Girls Club Classic, Walker's Cay, Bahamas. I, with the support of sponsors and participants, have raised over $1.8 million for underprivileged kids. I have been blessed in my life; blessed with great kids, blessed with the greatest woman in the world, my wife Anni, and blessed with opportunity. My father was a World War II B-29 command pilot. After the war, he started a resale business which I know own. I attended the University of Colorado in Boulder where I was on the Ski Team and Junior Biathlon team. I have lived in South Hampton, New York most of my life pursuing Big Eye and Blue fin tuna, spending my falls in southern New York and the great Adirondacks. As a pilot, I have amassed 7500 hours of flight time with 22 ocean crossings. I have been around the world at least 5 times and there are not too many places on this earth I have not been.

For the last four years, Anni and I have purchased our dream ranch in Eagle, Colorado where we reside just out of Vail, Colorado.

I was recently asked, out of all the places in the world where I have hunted and fished, what was the greatest place. My reply took only a millisecond of thought. The greatest place in the world was on the porch of life, with my wife Anni, watching the sun rise, talking to each other about anything. These times are the fabric of life. The peaceful moments which are priceless.

Through my blessed life, being in the executive aircraft business, big game blue water fishing and big game hunting, I've witnessed incredible wealth and unfortunately, incredible unhappiness. Money, position and power do not buy happiness. What I have learned in life is so simple. Life is not about the size of your house, how big your boat is, how fast your airplane is. It's about the one's you love, doing the things you love in the great outdoors.

That's it everybody, there's nothing more. Life is not about comparing yourself to others, but being the best you can be. Catching a 2 lb bass in your own canoe is just as rewarding as catching a 500 lb blue marlin on someone else's 70 foot yacht.

What is the value of being with your son or daughter as the sun breaks a field of corn stubble harvesting his or her first doe. Or the thrill of seeing a cock pheasant fall to the earth as your lab makes his first retrieve, bringing the bird to your kids, rather than to you after all the training. These moments are priceless, and at these moments, the true meaning of life is realized.

I am proud to represent Christmas & Associates and Western Skies Land Company. This outfit, for the last 25 years, has specialized in finding sportsmen affordable hunting land to call their own. Whether it be in New York or Montana, I've never seen such incredible values. All properties and cabins are near or abut public land for hunting, fishing, hiking, or horseback riding.

What's the value of your own land with cabin that you own, where you and your family and friends may hunt, fish and vacation? A property to pass down to your son or your son's son or daughter. The price tag my friends, is priceless.

In closing, with all of the immoral hype of Wall Street, the concept that bigger is better with an entire nation living over it's means, I believe that Barta Signature properties and cabins through Christmas and Associates and Western Skies Land Company represent a spectacular opportunity at an unbelievable price.

By the way, my wife Anni, who travels around the globe with me, has designed these cabins not only for you, but from a woman's point of view, so we don't have to live like animals. Each Barta Signature property has been selected by Anni and me for a reason. Each property for a different reason; could be price, location, the view, proximity to public land or a trail system for snowmobiles, or all of the above.

I welcome you to the opportunity to own your own dream at a price only found in heaven. It is my privilege to represent Christmas and Associates and Western Skies Land Company in what I consider a true American value for the working family.

Keep the Wind in your Face, Fair Chase,

Tred
